Navy to Continue Protecting U. S. Citizens Abroad

Hull Opposes "Stay at Home" Policy for the American Fleet

A REPLY TO JAPAN

U. S. Aims to Keep Navy Superior to That of Yellow Empire

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Secretary Hull opposed a stay-at-home policy for the United States Navy Sunday, contending it must be left free to defend the rights of American citizens in any part of the world.

The secretary of state told the senate naval affairs committee that establishment of a "naval frontier" beyond which United States warships should not operate would erect "an imaginary China wall" and "expose American citizens to attack anywhere in the world outside this wall."

His views were expressed in a letter to Chairman Walsh (Conn., Mass.) of the senate committee. Walsh had submitted the administration's $1,000,000,000 naval expansion bill. The senate committee will begin hearings on that measure Monday.

In the light of present world conditions, "no practical result" could come from a congressional authorization for the president to call a naval disarmament conference, the secretary said. Political and economic agreements must precede such a policy, he declared, adding: "In the meantime it is essential that there be adequate national security."

Superior to Japan

Hull made it plain that the State Department favored retention of the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strength among the United States, Great Britain and Japan, respectively, although he said the United States did not require parity with England in combat vessels.

Walsh asked Hull's views on granting Japan naval parity with the United States or agreeing to abolish battleships and aircraft carriers.

"It is wholly impossible to state in advance what the American technical naval position may be when and if another naval conference is called," Hull answered.

Asked if he considered maintenance of a 5-5-3 ratio necessary in view of the fact that the United States had granted the Philippine Islands independence, effective in the future, Hull replied:

"Quite irrespective of what may be the future disposition of the islands, it is believed to be in the interest of the security of the United States to adhere to the principle of the 5-5-3 ratio unless the political situation in the Pacific has been so altered as to permit agreement upon some other basis."

Fulton High School Presents Annual Play

The senior class of Fulton High School presented its annual play Thursday evening, March 21, in the high school auditorium.

A large and appreciative audience of approximately 600 witnessed the performance. The play, "A Little Cloudchopper," was unusually interesting, and the characters were well chosen.

As a prelude to each act, Superintendent J. L. Leithing explained characters and plot, arousing the interest of the audience and adding coherence to the play as a whole.

The cast of the play included: Septimus, George, Bryce Hill, Orey Gump, Leon Crofford, George Chugerson, Tommie Doyle, Beasley, Mrs. Chugerson-Biggs, Janet Hopson, Miss Julietta Bean, Charlotte Moser, Charlene Carter, Mable Swann, Judy Maggee Ginter, Country Folks. Other class members.

Good Year Forecast in Poultry Business

Survey figures show there are fewer layers on farms than there have been in 13 years. Today's spread between feed and poultry product prices is more favorable than a year ago.

These facts combined with lowered storage stocks of eggs indicate that 1938 is going to be a money-making poultry year.

Local farmers will want to start more than usual number of chicks this spring.

Lerida Taken by Rebels in Spain

Insurgents on Coast Within 80 Miles of Barcelona, Capital

BARCELONA, Spain—(AP)—Spanish insurgents Sunday night announced complete occupation of Lerida, historic provincial capital and "key" to Barcelona, government capital, 80 miles to the east. Capturing of the city came after savage fighting in which government counter-attacks with bayonets were repulsed, insurgents said.

Three divisions of General Franco's forces were said to have marched into the city preceded by tanks which cleared away the last remaining government resistance.

Insurgent commanders said hundreds of government dead littered the streets, scorched by an unreasonably hot sun. An "enormous" number of government prisoners was reported taken.

Lerida, under siege since General Franco's forces broke into Western Catalonia a week ago, is 80 miles west of Barcelona and on a main highway leading to that coastal capital of government Spain.

Francisco's assault forces had shattered outlying defense lines to storm the city. Lerida had been converted into a veritable fortress with machine guns mounted at windows and on rooftops. Streets were obstructed with sandbag barricades and most of the civilian population had fled. Normally Lerida is a city of some 40,000 residents.

Entry of the insurgents into Lerida was accompanied by the fiercest fighting of Gen. Juan Yague's smashing eastward drive. Moroccan troops swung into the battle by storming a castle landmark north of the city.

New Compromise on Reorganization Forced by House

Veterans Administration Exempt From Proposed Executive Order

HOUSE REBELLIOUS

Administration's Control Is Cut to Pieces on Vital Test

WASHINGTON—(AP)—House opponents of the government reorganization bill won a new concession from administration leaders Monday when they agreed to an amendment exempting the veterans administration from any merger.

Some opponents of the measure said the administration must make still further concessions.

The house rebellion against the administration government reorganization program threatened to shelve war-hour legislation for this session.

Compromise Nears

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt left his congressional leaders free Sunday to pursue compromise tactics in an effort to save his government reorganization bill from house defeat by Republicans and revolving Democrats.

He returned from a vacation at Warm Springs, Ga., to find the reorganization measure the subject of the greatest political controversy since his court bill was defeated last year. He conferred with house and senate leaders on ways to overcome the opposition in the house and save the bill and his own leadership.

Representative Rayburn of Texas, the House Democratic leader, acted as spokesman for the legislators when they left the White House after an hour and a half session.

He said the president was advised that compromise amendments would be offered. One would provide that congress, by a concurrent resolution that would not require presidential signature, could prevent executive reorganization orders going into effect. The other would assure the continuation of the Education Bureau in the Interior Department.

"The president expressed no opposition to them," Rayburn said, "although he didn't specifically say he was in favor of them."

The compromise regarding congressional overruling of presidential reorganization orders would permit a bare majority of the lawmakers to override, instead of requiring two-thirds as does the pending bill.

Poes of the reorganization bill contended the president himself questioned the constitutionality of such a compromise, before it was put forward, but advocates say it answers charges that he wants "dictator" powers.

Rayburn said the conferees were confident the bill would pass, and so told the president.

Compromise On Tax WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Pat Harrison carried to the country Sunday night his fight against administration-supported tax proposals, asserting that "the highest duty of men in public life today is to adopt courageously policies that will dispel fear and restore confidence."

Speaking over a national radio network (CBS), the Mississippi Democrat said that some remedy must be applied to eliminate "a fear and a lack of confidence on the part of business."

Harrison, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, outlined changes the committee has made in the administration-approved tax revision bill which the House passed recently.

"The Finance Committee in modifying the House revenue measure," he said, "has made every effort to make such changes as to simplify complicated provisions, encourage business, increase employment and at the same time provide the necessary revenue."

By its overhauling of the House measure, Harrison said, the Senate committee has translated it into a "business recovery bill."

The Senate committee voted 17 to 4 to wipe out the revised undistributed profits tax, which was approved by many business vigorous opponents by many business vigorous opponents.

The Finance group rewrote the House version of the capital gains tax, substituting a flat 15 per cent rate for the House-approved graduated scale.

Rotenberry's Test Lawsuit Advances in Supreme Court

Old-Age Pension Initiated Measure to Be Submitted April 25

DAMAGE REVERSED

$13,250 Verdict at Fort Smith Is Ordered Set Aside

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court advanced on the docket, for submission April 25, a suit by G. A. Lewis, newspaper vendor, attacking sufficiency of the ballot title of the proposed Rotenberry initiated old-age pension act.

The litigation is a friendly action instigated by Rotenberry to obtain a judicial ruling on the measure in order that it might be referred to the voters at the November general election.

The Supreme Court held Monday that the Oklahoma Gas & Electric Co. was not responsible for a 9-month-old Fort Smith baby swallowing a safety-pin.

It reversed and remanded for new trial a Crawford circuit judgment for $13,250 awarded Mrs. Marie Hofrichter on her contention that she was injured and the baby caused to swallow a safety-pin by an employee of the utility company.

A new trial was ordered to determine what damages Mrs. Hofrichter personally suffered at the hands of the employee, Otto Milton, a meter reader.

The Fort Smith mother's complaint was that in April, 1936, Milton came to her apartment while she was dressing the baby, an accused her of wiring around the electric meter, forcibly causing her to accompany him to the meter box.

She alleged that while the baby was left alone it swallowed a pin.

Widow Named by Coroner's Jury

Probe Group Charges Mrs. Hebrer's With Death of Husband

FOCAHONTAS, Ark.—The long-discussed "skeleton case" was cleared up Sunday as a coroner's jury is concerned, when that body returned a verdict finding that a skeleton found in a storm cellar on a farm five miles from Focahtontas several weeks ago was that of Will Hebrer, and that Hebrer "came to his death at the hands of Cora Hebrer in a manner to the jury unknown."

Mrs. Hebrer, 50, who admitted that she had been a principal in several marriages, was returned to Focahtontas from Miami, Fla., about a week after the skeleton had been unearthed last March 11 in a storm cellar at a farm home the couple formerly occupied. She denied that the skeleton was that of her husband.

The coroner's jury, empaneled by Coroner H. G. McNabb, returned the following verdict:

"We, the coroner's jury, find the evidence taken before our body and from voluntary statements of Cora Hebrer, that the body who lies here is that of a person known as Will Hebrer who lived with Cora Hebrer at the home where the cellar is located, and we further find from said evidence that he came to his death at the hands of Cora Hebrer in a manner to the jury unknown, and we recommend that she be held for further proceedings in the Randolph Circuit Court; and we further recommend that Sid Dickinson be returned over to Sheriff J. T. Thompson for such further investigation as he may see fit to make."

Dickinson was arrested several days ago at Newport after he was said by officers to have told several persons that he killed Hebrer. When taken before the coroner's jury here, however, he denied having made such statements. He is held in jail for further investigation.

Immediately after the coroner's jury returned its verdict, Mrs. Hebrer was returned to the county jail where she will be held pending trial, the sheriff said. If she is cleared of the murder charge, it is believed that she will face a bigamy charge. She told the jury that she had been married five times and that her husband had married 18 times. She admitted officers said, that she married Joe Heiker at Putnam, Okla., while she was still married to Hebrer.

Track and Field Events Planned

Bobcats Probably Will Meet Nashville This Friday

Coach Foy Hammons said Monday that he would take a track squad to Nashville this Friday to meet that high school team provided sufficient interest was shown during the first part of the week.

Interest in track work is not what it should be, the coach complained. However, if interest picks up, the Bobcats will go to Nashville this week, will meet Prescott, Arkadelphia and Camden in a quadrangle meet at Prescott April 14.

Hammons also is planning to take the team to Little Rock April 16 to engage teams in the "Big 15" Conference clash. After that meeting the state track and field meet will be held at Arkadelphia in which Hammons hopes to have the local school represented.

Prospective dash men are Bright, Masters and Ellen. In the weights, Fulkerson, Eason and Jones are showing promise. In the field events are Purdie, Green and Baker. In relays and long distance races are Henry Taylor, Ellen, Masters, C. King and Dorsey Fuller.

Britisher Slapped in the Parliament

Laborite Attacks Conservative in Unprecedented Outbreak

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Emanuel Shinwell, Laborite member of parliament, strode across the floor of the House of Commons Monday and slapped the face of Commander Robert Tatton Bower, Conservative member, just before the opening of the foreign affairs debate.

The house was thrown into an uproar by the almost unprecedented scene.

The Laborite resumed his seat after administering the resounding slap.

The remark by Bower to which apparently Shinwell took exception was not clear.

Workmen continued their task of pulling driftwood away from center piers to relieve pressure on both the highway and railroad bridges that traverse the river.

Leaves cracked during the disastrous February flood allow water to flow through gaps unhindered. The river is about five feet lower than the mark of peak of February, a mark of 36.6 feet.

Streams in other parts of the state continued falling Monday, averting threats of floods.

Slump Is Tapering Off, Bank Declares

But Surplus of Inventories Is Being Worked Off Slowly

NEW YORK—(AP)—Business has made a poor spring start but comfort may be found in a distinct tapering off in the industrial slump, the National City bank observed in its monthly survey Sunday.

"Hopes of improvement about this time were based partly on belief that inventories would be worked down and buyers would have to come back in the markets," the bank said.

"However, the absorption of excess stocks is requiring longer in some quarters than the optimists calculated. Always the vicious circle operates for a time to slow up inventories reduction, since the drop in one man's purchases curtails another's sales, and all have to adjust to a declining consumption."

"In retailing and distribution the evidence is that stocks are no longer an impediment to recovery. Department store inventories on March 1 were 8 per cent below a year earlier and after Easter the reduction will be much greater, since the peak last year was not reached until August."

Cautioning against placing too much emphasis on inventories, the bank said "businessmen are taking a conservative view of at least the nearby prospect."

"Buying policies," it went on, "continue hand-to-mouth, both in raw materials and manufactured goods."

Jimmy Wilson, the Optimist, Holds Hope for the Phillies

Tenth of a series from the spring training camps.

By HARRY GRAYSON
Sports Editor, NEA Service

BILOXI, Miss. When the late William Baker owned the Phillies, he told his managers to try not to finish last.

Jimmy Wilson has kept the Philadelphia club out of the dark confines of the National League cellar three of his four years at the controls.

"We roared in only half a game behind the sixth place Brooklyn last season," he says, proudly.

Winding up seventh is practically winning the pennant as far as the future Phillies are concerned.

Perhaps it is due to this, or his somewhat cheerful doctrine that things couldn't be much worse, but the fact remains that Jimmy Wilson is baseball's greatest optimist.

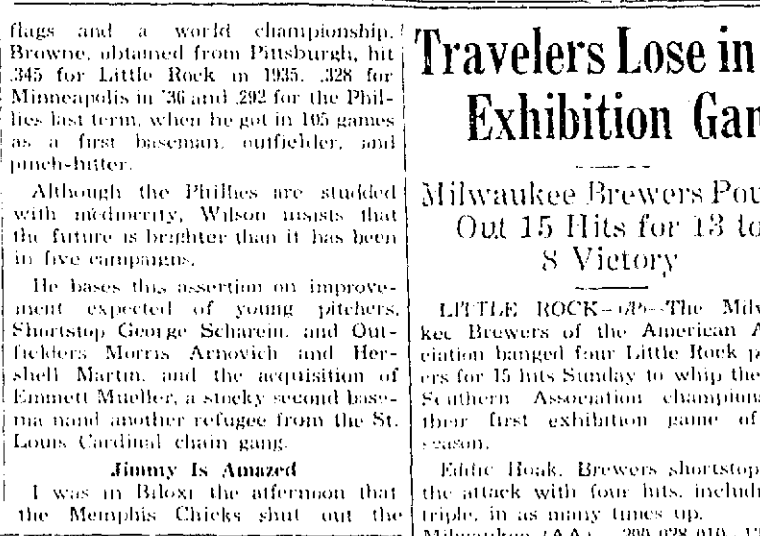

Shortly before he became manager of the Phillies, the club peddled Pinky Whitney to the Boston Braves, and he had hardly accepted the portfolio

In the fall of 1933 when Chuck Klein was sold to the Chicago Cubs.

That has been the story since stars of the Phillies going to more affluent outfits so that Gerry Nugent could meet expenses.

Hanks Are Depleted

Wilson has seen Dick Bartell go to the New York Giants, Al Todd to the Pittsburgh Pirates, Curt Davis to the Cubs, Lou Chiozza to the Giants, and this spring, when Nugent again was suffering from the shorts, he shipped the accomplished first baseman and home-run hitter, Dolph Camilli, to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

But Wilson is used to losing his dependables by now, and says that Camilli will be missed only in the field.

"Eddie Browne may be no Fred Astaire around that sack, but he'll swing that bat," asserts the man who caught the St. Louis Cardinals to three flags and a world championship. Browne, obtained from Pittsburgh, hit .345 for Little Rock in 1935, .328 for Minneapolis in '36 and .292 for the Phillies last year, when he got in 105 games as a first baseman, outfielder, and pinch-hitter.

Although the Phillies are studded with mediocrity, Wilson insists that the future is brighter than it has been in five campaigns.

He bases this assertion on improvement expected of young pitchers, Shortstop George Scharen, and Outfielders Morris Aronovich and Hershel Martin, and the acquisition of Emmett Mueller, a stocky second baseman and another refugee from the St. Louis Cardinal chain gang.

Milwaukee Brewers Pound Out 15 Hits for 13 to 8 Victory

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association banged four Little Rock pitchers for 15 hits Sunday to whip the 1937 Southern Association champions in their first exhibition game of the season.

Eddie Hoak, Brewers shortstop, led the attack with four hits, including a triple, in as many times up.

Phillies, 2-0.

"This club has gone clever on me," remarked Wilson. "We used to score until the other side ran us down, for we had no pitching to speak of and a leaky defense. Now we have pitching and a defense, and no hitting."

There is little question but that the Phillies have a fair kind of a pitching staff. With a first division club, Wayne LaMaster, the sturdy southpaw, Bill Walters and Claude Pascaun each easily might have logged 20 or more games in 1937. As things were, LaMaster accounted for 15, and Walters and Pascaun for 14 each, with Walters (14 wins, third base) the best two weeks of the campaign.

The Phillies have a pair of very promising right-handed prospects in Hugh Mulcahy and Harold Kelleher. Al Smith, the left-hander who served the Giants for several years, is among those present. Wild Bill Hallahan, erstwhile southpaw would series hero, has joined his old partner of happier Cardinal days, Eel Johnson.

Pete Sivess, who stands six feet three-and-a-half, copped 15 games for Baltimore, where he had an earned run average of 2.43. Tommy Reis was a no-hit performer in the New York-Pennsylvania League playoffs, and a 19-game winner for Wilkes-Barre.

Wilson remains a splendid catcher, and has able assistants in Bill Atwood and Walter Stephenson, erstwhile Cub veterans. Whitney and Klein, hit .341 and .325, respectively, in 1937, and never looked better.

Del Young, who played 109 games at second base last year, and Leo Norris are extra infielders.

Jimmy Wilson realizes that the Phillies aren't going anywhere, as usual, but with pitching and a tight defense for a change, he professes to believe that his scrupulously aggregated will have something to say about the National League race.

Oaklawn Betting Sets High Mark

State of Arkansas Got $168,546 From Track During Season

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—(AP)—Wagering during the 30-day racing meet which ended at Oaklawn Park Saturday was the briskiest in history of the track.

A total of 126,858 persons played $3.-$21,550 through the mutuels during that period. As each dollar went through the window, the state of Arkansas subtracted its four per cent of the turf of $168,546.

The handle itself bettered the 1937 total by $296,275 while the state's share, as a result, increased $11,814 over the previous season. Naturally, the track, pulling down 10 per cent of each dollar handled, also reaped a larger harvest as the pace quickened at the money windows.

The 1938 season brought only one other betting record, a $600,280 payoff on the daily double on March 17, St. Patrick's Day. A little Irish deputy sheriff, Charles McNutt, of Little Rock held the only ticket sold that day.

"I knew nothing about the horses," McNutt said, "so I just took No. 3 in the first race and No. 10 in the second for the combination of 13 and was surprised to see it come in."

With 12 horses in one field and 11 in the other, McNutt could have compiled numerous combinations for the future 13, and yet lose. But the records show that he did pick that particular combination and that particular combination did win, which hints that argument.

The double was the second largest ever paid on the American race tracks. In gaining a pay-off, Percy Torch paid $157.70 for a $2 win ticket. While that was the highest for the season, it was far from a record. In 1937, Sequoia paid $218 for a $2 mutual ticket, for one of the highest in the country.

Oaklawn's derby day handle Saturday fell $852.91 short of the record one-day's handle set on derby day of 1937. The handle Saturday was $175,404, compared to $183,712 last year.

Only one track mark fell during the meet. Odessa Bonah, a two-year-old ran three furlongs in the fast time of 34 2-5 seconds.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Tiger, a Kentucky Derby eligible, furnished the smashing climax to the season with its victory in the $5000 Arkansas derby in easy fashion. The win was worth $4110 to its owner.

Deaths from automobile accidents in 130 major cities of the United States during the first 10 weeks of this year showed a 21 per cent decrease compared with the corresponding period of 1937.

Porkers to Have Good Grid Team

Coach Thomsen Pleased With Showing of Team in Spring Practice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Coach Fred C. Thomsen said his University of Arkansas Razorbacks, who couldn't win the 1937 southwest football title although averaging three touchdowns a game, would be much stronger defensively next fall and if a question-mark offense clicked would be in the thick of the annual battle for gridiron spotlight.

"I'm not predicting a championship or near championship next fall," Thomsen said after 30 days of spring practice, "but Arkansas will be hard to beat in every game and may pull some surprises from mid-season on."

"Tackle position with four sophomores, giants—Sam Sawyer, Newman Miller, Jan Carter and Walter Ramsey—helping out two veterans—Dudley Mays and Randall Stallings—will be well taken care of in 1938."

"Arkansas may not have two great ends like Jim Denton and Ray Hamilton of a year ago, but there are seven wannamens seeking honors. Bill Sutherland is a fine pass receiver. A. J. Yates, the hardest tackler and best blocker, but Howard Hickey, Maurice Britt, John Friedberger, Paul Zuber and Zack Smith may work into the best combinations."

Thomsen said that Captain-elect Lloyd Woodell, who now weighs 205 pounds, is one of the best centers in the nation.

Veterans Ray Eakin and Ralph Atwood should be leading ground gainers with Eakin doing most of the pushing for the starting team although Guy Gray, a newcomer, has been turned by Thomsen as "one of the best passers I've ever seen."

As English Is "Spoke"

"Willie," said his mother, "I wish you would run across the street and see how old Mrs. Brown is this morning."

A few minutes later Willie returned and reported:

"Mrs. Brown says it's none of your business how old she is."

A New York man was arrested for selling "allium cepa lilies" but was released when the judge explained that allium cepa lilies were actually onions, the man's merchandise.

Camden Football Card Announced

Panthers Will Come to Hope for Annual Game Next October 28

CAMDEN, Ark.—(AP)—Coach Sam Coleman of the Camden High School Panthers announced Monday an 11-game football schedule for next fall. Spring practice will start immediately after the close of the track season, he said.

The schedule: September 16, Smackover, here; September 23, Nashville, there; September 30, Ouachita Parish of Monroe, La., there; October 7, Texarkana, here; October 14, Pine Bluff, there; October 21, Malvern, here; October 28, Hope, there; November 4, Hot Springs, there; November 11, Fortcyce, here; November 19, Little Rock, here; November 24, El Dorado, there.

Allen Berry Named Coach at El Dorado

Former Smackover Grid Mentor to Succeed Jimmy Nesbit

EL DORADO.—Selection of Coach Allen Berry of Smackover to succeed Jimmy Nesbit, resigned, as head coach at El Dorado High School, was announced by J. I. McClurkin, superintendent of schools. He will assume the post July 1.

Berry, who played from 1925 to 1929 under Bo Rowland, now Syracuse University mentor but then coach at Henderson College, Arkadelphia, switched from guard to end when he enrolled at Vanderbilt University in 1930.

He played there under the late Dan McGugin. He assumed the Smackover post in 1934 and with his material considered, has performed one of the outstanding coaching jobs in the state, his track teams won the District 9 championships in 1934 and 1935.

Nesbit, who assumed the El Dorado post immediately upon his graduation from the University of Alabama, resigned a month ago, giving his team's dismal showing last fall as the reason.

His resignation was not accepted immediately, however. He said he probably would accept either a position offered him at the Baylor Military School, Chattanooga, Tenn., where he would coach football and track, or one at Greenville (S. C.) High School, where he would be head coach.

White Russians in North China are now closely organized under Japanese-sponsored "White Russian Residence Committees."

Pine Bluff Losing 11 Veteran Grid Players

PINE BLUFF, Ark.—Spring football training for the Pine Bluff High School Zebras is underway.

Coaches Allen Dunaway and George Terry must replace 11 letter men. Forty-four players reported.

Letter men expected back but who failed to report are Billy and Kelly Ross, Guy Boyd, Ernest Kennedy, Bill

Phillips, Billy Harrison, Lester Carrey, Ogden Bolin, Ed Cary, Earl Rivers, Everett Payne and Robert and Raymond Hutson. Malcolm and Maurice McPhail, Eddie Atkinson, T. C. Davis, W. C. LaFite and Roy Ferguson.

Only Japanese capital will be used in the huge new development corporation which is being formed by Japanese to exploit the natural resources of North China, a Japanese news agency announces.

OFF TO GOOD START

Phillies, 2-0.

"This club has gone clever on me," remarked Wilson. "We used to score until the other side ran us down, for we had no pitching to speak of and a leaky defense. Now we have pitching and a defense, and no hitting."

There is little question but that the Phillies have a fair kind of a pitching staff. With a first division club, Wayne LaMaster, the sturdy southpaw, Bill Walters and Claude Pascaun each easily might have logged 20 or more games in 1937. As things were, LaMaster accounted for 15, and Walters and Pascaun for 14 each, with Walters (14 wins, third base) the best two weeks of the campaign.

The Phillies have a pair of very promising right-handed prospects in Hugh Mulcahy and Harold Kelleher. Al Smith, the left-hander who served the Giants for several years, is among those present. Wild Bill Hallahan, erstwhile southpaw would series hero, has joined his old partner of happier Cardinal days, Eel Johnson.

Pete Sivess, who stands six feet three-and-a-half, copped 15 games for Baltimore, where he had an earned run average of 2.43. Tommy Reis was a no-hit performer in the New York-Pennsylvania League playoffs, and a 19-game winner for Wilkes-Barre.

Wilson remains a splendid catcher, and has able assistants in Bill Atwood and Walter Stephenson, erstwhile Cub veterans. Whitney and Klein, hit .341 and .325, respectively, in 1937, and never looked better.

Browns Try to Lick "Defeat Attitude"

Six New Faces Will Be in the Starting Lineup This Year

By FELIX R. McKnight
SAN ANTONIO, Texas.—(P)—The St. Louis Browns have been in the doghouse long enough.
East of an annual statement, that, but the way bespectacled William O. DeWitt, vice-president of the basement Brownies, puts it, you stop and listen.
"Why can't we hit the first division?" queries DeWitt. "The answer's easy—a defeatist attitude has had the club. And what kind of a remedy do the Browns have for such an ugly attitude?"
"Last fall we decided to follow one of two policies. Our first impulse was to tear down the whole club and start all over with youngsters. Then there was the idea we could maneuver around and get some seasoned ball-players to plug our weak spots."
"We knew we had players other clubs wanted—players that just couldn't perform in a Brown uniform. We knew they were in demand and felt we could shop around and get seasoned players in return. We decided to sell no players for cash just to keep things going. We started trading and buying—getting players who were accustomed to winning."
"Where we formerly had a bunch of men who went out each afternoon with the thought of holding down the score, we fell we now have winners—which is a strange thing to us."

Winning Pitchers
DeWitt then plunged into the pitching staff—a little matter the fans have long felt as a trifle more responsible for Brownie losses than attitudes.
"Look at Buck Newsum, Jim Weaver, Ed Linke, Vito Tamulis—some of our new blood. They're winners and know they can win. The players have the same idea. Two holdovers from our last year's last place club, Oral Hildebrand and Jack Knott, are good pitchers. They did well last season but got few runs to back up their efforts."
"Six new faces will be in the starting lineup this year. Of 40 players new in training camp, only 12 were here last year. We're getting rid of the gentlemen who lose ball games in their minds before the first batter is up."

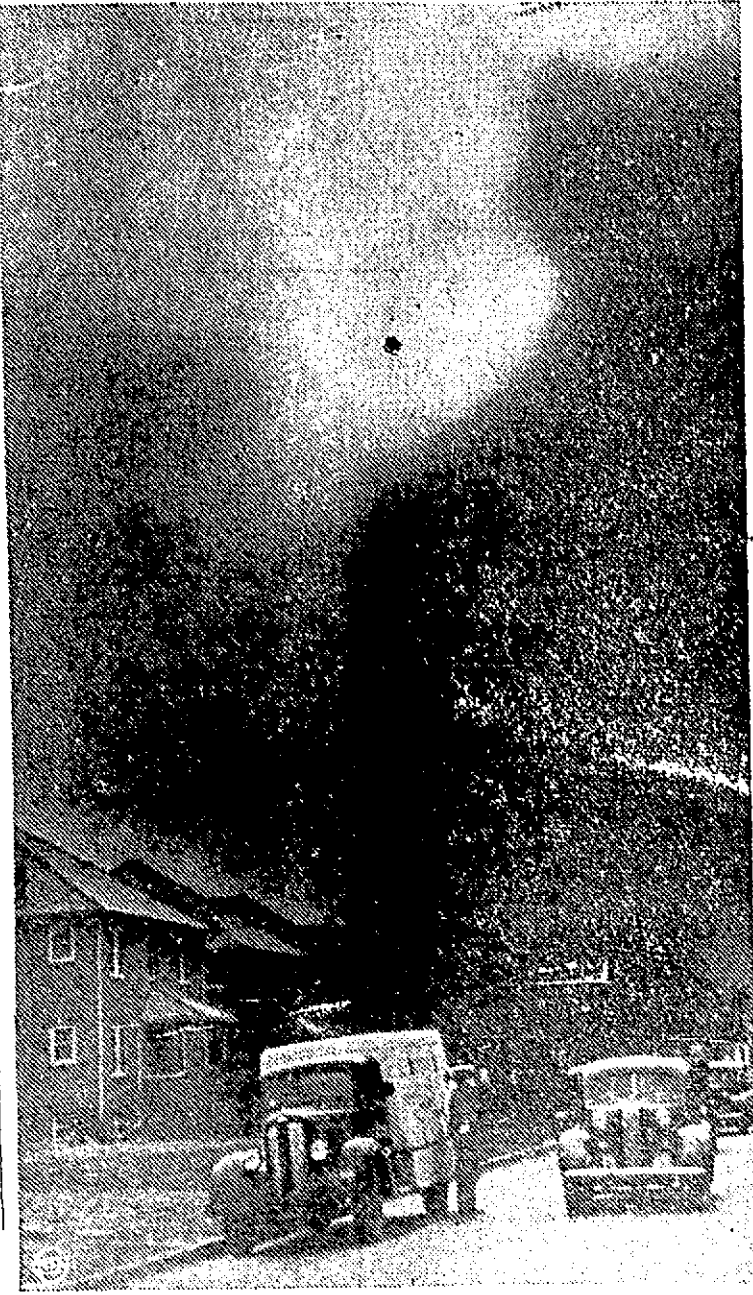

A peek at the training camp, where Gabby Street, the baseball veteran of 38 years is starting his first year as St. Louis manager, almost makes you believe DeWitt has something.

Stock Goes Up
No grumbling, just a lot of hustle. Morning workouts are scheduled for 10 o'clock. The squad is always suited out and on the field by 9:30.

"Street, of course, is highly enthusiastic," said DeWitt. "He's a man who has won two National League pennants and a World Series. He knows he has a last place club and has everything to gain by prodding them up the ladder."

Fans of St. Louis, who long have been accustomed to watching the Cardinals for their winning games, perked up during the winter when the Browns trading spree got under way. "Originally our stock sold for $5 per share. It slumped, along with the ball club, down to $2.50. When we got busy in the winter and started weeding out the old and getting some ball-players

Dust Eclipse for a Kansas Sun

Swirling black across the Kansas prairies 48 hours after the heaviest rainfall this year, choking dust clouds blotted out the sun, eclipse-like, as shown above in the striking picture taken at Wichita. Descending while twisters ripped through other parts of Kansas, and four other states, the dust clouds were mistaken for tornado formations and some residents ran to shelter in nearest cellars.

College of Agriculture. The smaller or weaker stems need the heaviest pruning. Only 3 or 4 stems should be left with 2 to 3 stubs of branches on each of these. Since flowers are produced on new growth, only this severe type of pruning will stimulate rapid new growth and the reduced number of cases of stems will ordinarily supply larger flowers. Mr. Eton points out. Bases which are just set out should be pruned in this same manner.

As other bush roses flower on last year's growth, it is best to prune them less severely. In spring, or in the summer after flowering, the previous year's growth should be shortened to prevent the plant from over growing and becoming unsightly. Weak canes should be completely removed. When they become over size they may be cut back to the ground entirely to allow new growth.

Chimney roses also flower on wood of the previous season. Mr. Eton After their heavy blooming, the canes should be cut back to the base to allow new growth for next year. On shower growing varieties, such as the Dr. Van Vleet, only the lateral branches are removed and a few long canes left to start new laterals.

Cutting the flowers is really pruning and a long stem should be left with the bloom, leaving a couple of buds on the stub when the stimulated new growth by this cutting of the terminal flower.

Home-Grown Feeds
The use of home-grown feeds for the poultry flock will have hundreds of dollars for Hempstead county growers in 1938.

Protein is important in the poultry ration. According to S. A. Moore, extension poultryman, University of Arkansas College of Agriculture, milk is the best protein feed, and liquid skimmed milk can be used to replace all other forms of concentrated protein, such as meat meal, fish meal, or dried milk. When it is produced on the farm, skimmed milk is the cheapest possible source of protein. Mr. Moore advises. Milk is made up largely of water, and, if the poultry flock is to receive ample protein from this source, they must consume comparatively large quantities.

When skimmed milk is used as the sole source of protein the following feeds should be provided: (1) Two or more grains ground and mixed with one per cent salt. (2) Four skimmed milk. (3) Succulent green feeds, and (4) Oyster shell or limestone. All of these feeds should be available to the birds at all times. No water is given as the skimmed milk will provide sufficient moisture. Approximately 4 gallons of milk will be required for each 100 birds each day.

This method of feeding is economical and enables the farmers to maintain a dirty flock almost entirely on feeds produced on the farm. Mr. Moore points out.

Pruning Roses
Spring is the time to prune roses. Although many roses may have been pruned last fall, better flowers will be obtained by pruning in the spring.

The majority of roses grown in Hempstead county are of the Hybrid Tea class which are stimulated by early pruning. After danger of heavy frost is past, cutting back these roses to about 5 or 10 inches of the ground is advised by P. T. Eton, extension horticulturist, University of Arkansas.
